Dear Chairman Powell,

Our teacher told us today about the plan to cut the eRate money for our school because Cleveland schools have already received eRate money. I just want to let you know that I don't think that is fair. If the funding from eRate is cut, Cleveland schools will not be able to afford to pay for us to be able to use the internet at school.

We are growing up in a world where it is important for us to be able to use the internet. We use it for research. We can do projects with other schools all around the world. We learn so much from it – things that textbooks cannot teach us. Most of our families do not have computers at home, so school is the only place where we can have these kinds of experiences.

Please rethink your ideas and make sure that our school district can get eRate again next year. Remember, we are the future generation! Please help us.

I enjoy using the internet in my classroom and would miss it greatly if it were taken away next year.

Sincerely yours,

Johnnie Lemon

Dear Chairman Powell:

I am a second grade teacher in the Cleveland, Ohio Municipal School District. My children are from mostly poor and Hispanic families. We use the computers daily in our class work to enable them to develop the best educational system that we can.

The computers are used to teach phonics and reading skills, writing skills and math and science. The children in my class are exposed to the computer daily and we use many of the skills they learn there in the other class work that they do.

I would appreciate you keeping the funding levels at the current rates if possible even increase them. The children in our large urban communities need these funds to help them become full fledged members of the society in which they must function as responsible adults. Using the computers for advancing reading skills my children have advanced one half grade level over where they should be this year.

Thank you for your concern.
